

Dundee University students and staff took part in a walk around campus with the aim of finding out about the trees there. Environment and sustainability officer Trudy Cunningham (third from right) led the tour, which was part of the month-long Tayside Biodiversity Festival.